PREFACE

In compiling the present catalogue it has been deemed advisable to deviate somewhat from the perfect form of dictionary catalogue, for the greater convenience of the many readers of light literature. The catalogue, therefore, is divided into two parts: Part I contains the fiction only, arranged alphabetically by author and title; part II comprises all the general works, arranged alphabetically by subject, author and title. Special series of books are also given under the title of the series, and the reference books are given under the heading "Reference," and are prefixed with the letter "R" wherever they appear. It has not been thought necessary to collect the juvenile books together under one heading. If desired they may readily be picked out from the other books of fiction and general works by observing whether the letter "J" (indicating juvenile) is prefixed to the book number; and, by thus merging the two classes together, children are encouraged to select and read books written for adults, though equally comprehensible to children, which tends to broaden their grasp of all matters, instead of limiting it by confining their reading to purely juvenile books.

Subjects, the titles of book series, and subject references, are printed in black face type; authors, and cross references from pseudonyms to authors' real names, are given in capitals; while mere book titles are printed in ordinary body type. Thus, at a glance, the reader can select from the catalogue pages either subjects, authors or titles, as desired. Furthermore, by a liberal use of cross references, all books on related subjects are brought into touch with each other, and the seeker for knowledge on any particular point can easily find all the books in the library liable to contain information thereupon.

The classification adopted for books in this library is that of the Dewey and Cutter systems, the latter alone being used for the fiction.

Owing to the continuous influx of new books while preparing this catalogue, it has been an utter impossibility to include all the latest arrivals in fiction, alphabetically, in Part I, though a strenuous effort has been made to include as many as possible. The others, however, will be found in alphabetical order, by title and author, after the Z's in Part I, headed "Latest Accessions"; and this brings the catalogue up to date.

Future accessions to the library will be issued hereafter in bulletin form, arranged on the same general plan as this catalogue, and we trust, in due course of time, also to equip the library with a complete dictionary card catalogue, which will,

at all times, record every book in the library, alphabetically, by author, subject and title.

In conclusion, we would recommend all patrons of the library to read carefully the "General Information" given on another page, in order to familiarize themselves with the rules, regulations and other matters pertaining to the library, as it may save both them and the librarian considerable trouble.

GENERAL INFORMATION

PATRONS ARE REQUESTED TO READ CAREFULLY

HOW TO JOIN

The applicant for membership must fill out and file with the librarian a regular application blank (which can be had upon application to the librarian), giving his or her full name and address and bearing the signature of some permanent resident and taxpayer of the city who will vouch for applicant and will be held responsible for any losses the library may incur through the negligence or default of applicant. If preferred, instead of obtaining the signature of some guarantor as above, the applicant may deposit, as security, the sum of five dollars, which will be returned at any time upon surrender of membership card and payment of any fines, etc., due from applicant to the library in accordance with the rules below. In either case a fee of $1.00 is charged each member annually, which must be paid quarterly, semi-annually, or in full in advance.

MEMBERSHIP PRIVILEGES

A membership card entitles the owner to one book for home reading; which book may be retained two weeks (one week if a new work of fiction), and, at the expiration of that period, it may be renewed for another two weeks (if not a new work of fiction), upon presenting membership card to the librarian; provided, however, such extension will not discommode other patrons.

HOW TO GET BOOKS

Present your card to the librarian, together with a list giving the full titles and Cutter Numbers of at least half a dozen books you desire to read, in order of preference, and if the first on the list is out you will get the second, and so on. In order to fill the wants of the continually increasing number of patrons to the library as speedily and satisfactorily as possible, this rule will be strictly adhered to hereafter.

FINES

Members retaining any book over two weeks, without having had the time extended, are subject to a fine of five cents for each day overtime, and if the book is not returned at the expiration of two weeks overtime, nor fines paid, the book will be considered lost and its full value charged against such member.

READING ROOM RULES

Any person of good behavior, whether member or not, can obtain any book in the library for use at the Reading Room tables, by merely presenting the librarian with a list of the books desired, as explained above, and, in addition, writing plainly at the head of such slip, applicants name and address. Blank slips for this purpose can be had by applying to the librarian. Not over three books will be issued to any person at any one time; but, upon their return, another three will be issued if desired, in the same manner. Before leaving the room each person so receiving books must return them to the librarian and see they are checked from his slip as returned; otherwise such person will be held responsible for any loss ensuing. Periodicals and books on the Reading Room tables are free to all for use in the Reading Room.

REFERENCE BOOKS

Books of reference, marked on the catalogue with the letter "R" prefixed to the Cutter Number, can be had for use at the reference tables at any time under the above rules, but they will only be permitted to leave the library on membership cards upon a special deposit being made with the librarian covering the full value of such book. Such deposit will be refunded on the return of the book in equally good condition as issued; but, otherwise, the amount of deposit will be forfeited and applied in the purchase of a new book to replace the one so spoiled.

LIBRARY HOURS

The library will be open on week days from 10 a. m. to 10 p. m. (except holidays), and Sundays from 2:00 to 5:00 p. m. Members can have their books exchanged any time from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m. on week days, but no books will be exchanged on Sundays. Books for use at the Reading Room tables can be had any time upon compliance with the rules given in a preceding paragraph.

MUTILATING BOOKS

The library has been put to considerable expense and annoyance by the acts of some persons who appear to imagine that a public library is established for their sole and private benefit, and who, therefore, as the whim strikes them, tear out pages, illustrations, and otherwise mutilate and deface books entrusted to them. The public should co-operate with us in putting a stop to this practice, which has ruined many valuable works, and we earnestly request readers, whether members or not, immediately to report to the librarian any such mutilations or defacements that may come to their notice. Anyone found guilty of such acts will be forever barred from the privileges of the library.
